Meet Our Members

Cynthia Kay (Guidry) Herdt

Cindy is the daughter of Marvin (Mark) Guidry & Rose Mary Norred. She was born in Beaumont, Texas on March 6, 1957. The family moved from TX in 1966. She lived in Colorado, Oregon, Montana, British Columbia and finally, Washington State, where she has resided since 1974. She currently lives in the small town of Entiat, WA (pop. 1,000) on the beautiful and mighty Columbia River. The area is considered the world's leading apple growing region. The town of Wenatchee, 17 miles away, is the Apple Capital of the World.

Cindy graduated from Wenatchee High School in 1975. She attended college at Wenatchee Valley College graduating in 1980. Cindy obtained two BS degrees from Central Washington University in 1982, one in Business Administration, the other in Computer Sciences. In 2002 Cindy received a BS in Accounting from Central Washington University. (cont'd)

Final Countdown - CMA 2004, Nova Scotia

As we enter the dog days of summer and we head off for vacations, family gatherings, barbeques and the like, it is also time to start thinking about our plans for the CMA 2004 reunion in Nova Scotia. We are in the final countdown now, just one year to go.

To keep up-to-date on the latest information posted on the events being planned, check the out the CMA 2004 website at: <http://www.cma2004.com>. You will find tips for planning your trip, a program of scheduled events, currency information, history links and much more. For more specific updates on the Guedry/Labine/Petitpas reunion plans, check the Guedry-Labine Family website at:

<http://freepages.genealogy.rootsweb.com/~guedrylabinefamily/>.

The reunion registration form is attached for your convenience. We look forward to meeting you all and "passing a good time".

Welcome to the third issue of Les Guidry d'Asteur's "GENERATIONS" Newsletter. Please let us know what you would like to see included here. We want to create an informative, interesting and entertaining newsletter for our members. To submit articles or ideas for future issues of the Les Guidry d'Asteur "GENERATIONS" contact Allie Guidry at txguidry2000@yahoo.com, or Marty Guidry at guidryrm@cox.net, 6139 North Shore Drive, Baton Rouge, LA 70817. Our fall issue will go out in October, 2003. Please submit your stories by Oct. 15th in order for us to include them in that issue.

After working in Wenatchee for the accounting firm of Cornell, Weinstein & Griffith, Inc. for two years, she accepted a position closer to home in Entiat, at the manufacturing facility of BigToys/Kompan, Inc., where she remained for 17 years. She is currently employed with Artic Refrigeration & Heating in Wenatchee, WA.

Cindy's husband, Michael Alan Herdt, born July 6, 1952, in Fort Morgan, CO, is the son of German-Russian (Volga) immigrants Don and Velva (Stauffer) Herdt. They were married on Aug. 26, 1995 at their home in Entiat. Michael has been employed with Cusick Construction & Development for 15 years. Cusicks is a commercial and industrial development company. Michael's sisters, Cindy and Dana, and his parents still reside in Colorado.

Between them they have four children:

Dr. Thomas Jefferson Pridemore, Jr, DC – practicing in Bloomington, IL
Phillip Donald Pridemore – attending Culinary Arts Institute in Scottsdale, AZ
Timothy Michael Herdt – Plant Manager, Pepsi, Wenatchee, WA
Carrie Anne (Herd) Weber – Office Assistant, Columbia Colstor, Quincy, WA

Cindy's favorite hobbies are quilting, arts & crafts, gardening, camping & fishing, boating, traveling & home improvements projects ("we have a great home thanks to a construction-talented husband and way too much HGTV").

In addition to volunteering as the Sales Committee Chairperson for The Guedry-Labine Family Organization and sewing the family quilt for the CMA 2004 reunion, Cindy has volunteered in the past for the following activities:

Entiat Holiday Bazaar – founder & organizer from 1989–present.
Entiat Valley Chamber of Commerce – President, Treasurer, Secretary, and member since 1985
Spirit Award recipient 1989, 1990, 1997 & 2000
Entiat Valley Dollars for Scholars Foundation – Co-founder & Treasurer – 1994-present
Entiat Valley Royalty Association 1994-2001
City of Entiat Park Advisory Board – Chairperson, Member – 1995-2001
Make a Difference Day – organizer/volunteer – 1994-present
Entiat Boys Scouts – Troop 16 - Assistant Scout Master/volunteer – 1990-1995
Rubber Duck Regatta – organizer – 1994-2002

Entiat's loveliest attraction, its waterfront park on the sandy beaches of Lake Entiat, is nestled almost out of site from drivers on Hwy. 97A. .

ANCESTRY OF THE GUEDRY FAMILY OF CLARE, NOVA SCOTIA (JEDREY, GEDDRY)

The Jedreys and Geddrays currently living in the Municipality of Clare (Meteghan and its environs) have a proud heritage - descending from one of the few Acadians never captured by the English during the deportation of 1755 - 1763.

Bernard Geddry, a resident of Peoria, AZ and formerly of Norwood, MA, has extensively researched his early Acadian ancestry over many years. Through his diligent, well-documented work we now know the exciting story of Augustin Guédry dit Grivois and the founding of the Guédry community in the Meteghan region of Nova Scotia. Bernie is a very active member of Les Guidry d'Asteur - serving on the Genealogy Committee and assisting researchers seeking their Guédry ancestry.

Born in 1697 in Acadia, Pierre Guédry dit Labine, the 9th of eleven children of Claude Guédry and Marguerite Petitpas, was six months old when the Census of Port Royal was taken in 1698. In 1708 we find young Pierre at La Hève with his family. About 1722 he married Marguerite Brasseau at Port Royal, Acadia. Marguerite, born ca. 1702, was the daughter of Pierre Brasseau and Gabrielle Forest dite Michel. Where Pierre and Marguerite lived during the early years of their marriage is uncertain - perhaps at Merliguèche or maybe Pisiguit or Cobequid. Prior to the English arriving at Merliguèche in 1752, Pierre and his family seem to have fled to Ile St. Jean. It is here that Pierre and Marguerite were captured by the English in 1755 and exiled. In 1767 we find them living at St. Pierre and Miquelon.

Typical of Acadian families, Pierre Guédry and Marguerite Brasseau had a large family of seven sons and four daughters. Augustin Guédry, the 10th child of the family, was born in 1740. In 1752 twelve-year old Augustin was at Pointe a la Jeunesse, Ile St. Jean with the family of his brother and sister-in-law - Charles Guédry and Madeleine Hébert. This young couple - both 25 years of age - had living with them their two daughters - Marie-Madeleine (6 years old) and an unnamed daughter only eight days old - as well as three brothers of Charles - Joseph Guédry (20 years old), Jean Femilien Guédry (17 years old) and Augustin Guédry (12 years old) - and Charles' sister Agnès (10 years old). This surely was a burden on the young couple - especially in an area with rocky soils and a harsh climate.

Although most of the children of Pierre Guédry and Marguerite Brasseau were captured by the English and deported during 1755 - 1763, Augustin Guédry evaded capture and remained free throughout the period. It was a very tough and difficult life - having to fight the elements and survive on what nature provided. Although his whereabouts between 1755 and 1764 are not known with certainty, it appears that he lived among the Indians during this time - perhaps in the Merliguèche region. His family had developed strong ties with the Micmacs of the region over the past half-century and it seems probable that he returned to live among them in this time of need. They knew how to harvest the bounty of the land and sea and how to survive the freezing winters of Acadia. They also offered Augustin the opportunity to fade into the woodlands and thus avoid capture.

With the end of the French and Indian War and the Treaty of Paris in 1763 the English allowed the Acadians to begin returning to Nova Scotia under certain conditions. In 1764 Governor Michael Franklin had permitted Acadians returning to Nova Scotia to obtain land by Order-in-Council. Because English settlers had occupied the fertile Acadian lands of old, the returning Acadians had to resettle in coastal areas. The seven principle areas that the Acadians resettled after 1763 and which their descendants still occupy today are: Argyle (Yarmouth County), Clare (Digby County), Minudie, Nappan & Maccan (Cumberland County), Chéticamp (Inverness County, Cape Breton), Isle Madame (Richmond County, Cape Breton), Pomquet, Tracadie & Havre-Boucher (Antigonish County) and Chezzetcook (Halifax County). [To avoid confusion later, remember that in the late 1700's the area around Meteghan, Digby County was known as Chéticamp. Today the coastal town in northeastern Inverness County, Cape Breton bears this name and the town near Meteghan is called Saint-Alphonse-de-Clare.] In 1768 the government authorized Deputy Surveyor John Morrison to survey and divide the Clare District into lots.

With the French and Indian War ended and Acadians returning to their homeland, about 1764 Augustin Guédry dit Grivois emerged from hiding in the La Hève area and settled at Gilbert's Cove near Hobb's Hill and west of St. Croix Chapel in present-day Digby County - the first Acadian to settle along St. Mary's Bay. Untouched by the conflict of 1755 - 1763, this area had not been settled by Acadians before 1755 and no English had moved into the region during the period of deportation. At this time Augustin used the appellation Augustin Guiderry. Shortly thereafter Olivier Robichaud, Augustin's future brother-in-law, settled nearby.

In 1900 Augustin Guiderry's farm at Gilbert's Cove was occupied by Charles Mande Melancon; however, an interesting story has emerged about this farm. It seems that in 1802 Augustin Guiderry, Jr. (the son of Augustin Guiderry, Sr. and Marie-Françoise Jeanson) purchased this farm from a Mr. James Bontineau Franklin for 50 pounds. How Mr. Franklin acquired the land is not known at this time. Augustin Jr. died on 9 March 1833 at 62 years of age. That same year a William Hobbs of Argyle purchased the land from Mrs. A. Guiderry (Augustin Guiderry, Jr.'s widow) and also married Mrs. A. Guiderry. The purchase price was 200 pounds - a substantial increase in value from 1802 to 1833; perhaps indicating significant improvements to the property. Interestingly William Hobbs was only 20 years old in 1833 while Mrs. A. Guiderry was 57 years old - quite a catch for the lady and a hefty purchase price for a young 20-year old groom. William Hobbs was a miller and in 1838 he petitioned the Assembly to construct an oat mill that he erected on Hobbs' brook in the west end of the Plympton section. Augustin Guiderry and the other Acadians of Gilbert's Cove planted apple trees on their land. Many of these trees were still standing in the early 1900's. Mrs. Augustin Guiderry, Jr. was Marie Rebecca Eagle Guiderry, daughter of Edward Eagle and his wife Catherine. She is called by various surnames in the records including Giddery, Geddry, Gedrie, Jeddrie and Jeddry.

About 1767, Augustin Guédry, Sr. married Marie-Françoise Jeanson, daughter of Guillaume Jeanson dit Billy and Marie Aucoin, in a civil ceremony. Later on 8 May 1769 their marriage was rehabilitated by a missionary of Windsor (formerly Pisiguit). Augustin and Marie-Françoise began their family at Gilbert's Cove with the birth of their son Hermat Pierre Guédry in 1767. Other children soon followed including: Joseph Felix Guédry (born 1770), Augustin Guédry (born 1771), Ann Guédry (born 1773), Théotiste Guédry, Jean-Dominique Guédry (born 1776), Marguerite Guédry, Josette Guédry, Philippe Guédry (born 1783) and Roman Guédry (born 1784).

Having initially settled toward the northern sector of St. Mary's Bay, Augustin soon noticed Englishmen moving south and settling near him. Not wishing to live near these former enemies, Augustin Guédry decided to move further south and away from the English. About 1786 Augustin Guédry and Joseph Comeau received a grant of 1600 acres south of Guillot Lake just below present-day Meteghan in an area known as Chéticamp. In 1790 two new sons Frederic and Jean Guédry joined the Augustin Guédry family. A short time later Pierre and Philippe Guédry (son of Augustin Guédry, Sr.) shared a grant of 2730 acres just inland from the St. Mary's Bay at Bear Cove and Chéticamp (present-day Saint-Alphonse-de-Clare) with the LeBlanc's, Comeau's and Saulnier's. Pioneer settlers near present-day Meteghan, the Guédry family remains a strong thread in the Acadian fabric of Meteghan and the adjacent region.

Beginning in the early 1800's one notices the Guédry name being spelled as Guiderry, Geddry, Gedre, Jeddrie and Jedre in various documents. This trend continued in the decades to follow with additional variations as Jedery and Gidry.

The poll tax record of 1792 lists Augustin Guédry, Sr. and three of his sons Pierre, Augustin and Philippe as taxpayers. In this record the Guédry name is spelled Gedree. About this time Pierre and his descendants began spelling their name Jedrey while Philippe and his descendants generally used the surname Geddry or Guidry although occasionally they used Jeddry.

The Guédry family appears prominently in the series of censuses taken by Father Ligogne from 1818 to 1823. The Census indicates that Augustin Guédry, the progenitor of the Guédry's of St. Mary's Bay, died before 1824 as he is listed as deceased in the Census. This Census, however, confirms that the Guédry family is well-rooted along St. Mary's Bay with Augustin's widow Marie-Françoise Jeanson as well as several of her sons including Philippe and her grandchildren all living near Meteghan and Plympton.

Showing the same tendency for large families as their cousins in Louisiana, the Guédry families of St. Mary's Bay in the early 1800's tended to have families with many children. In 1795 Hermat Pierre Guédry, born in 1767, married Anne Belliveau, daughter of Jean-Jacques Belliveau and Marguerite Robichaud, with whom he had a family of ten children. Pierre died in 1857. Pierre's brother Philippe, born in 1783, married Angélique Theriau in 1803. Philippe and Angélique had 14 children. Augustin Guédry, Jr., born in 1771, married Marie Rebecca Eagle before 1800. Augustin died in 1833. Romain Guédry, born in 1784, married Marie Comeau with whom he had 6 children. Frederic Guédry, born in 1790, married Marguerite Deveau. Frederic and Marguerite had only a single child. Jean Guédry, born in 1790, married Rosalie Clothilde Robichau. Jean and Rosalie had four children.

From this early, but strong, beginning the Guédry family of St. Mary's Bay in Nova Scotia descends. Today they are known by many different names - Guédry, Geddry, Gedrey, Gedery, Gedere, Gidrie, Geadry, Jeddery, Jeddry, Jedery, Jedry and Jedrie. Most of Hermat Pierre Guédry's descendants spell their name with a “J” while descendants of Philippe Guédry and the other sons of Augustin Guédry use a “G” in spelling their name. Occasionally, however, a crossover occurs. Small pockets of the Guédry family also live on Prince Edward Island (Île St. Jean) and Cape Breton (Île Royale).

FEMALE FAMILY ATHLETES

CARLETTE GUIDRY [4 Sep 1968 - ] Track & Field

A speedster since youth, Carlette Guidry, born 4 September 1968 in Houston, TX, sprang to the national limelight during her sophomore year at Sterling High School in Houston, TX. In 1985 she was the Texas Athletic Conference Junior Champion in the 100-meters and the long jump and runner-up in the triple jump. In 1986 she repeated as TAC Junior Champ in the long jump while placing 2nd in the 200-meters and 3rd in the 100-meters. That same year she won the 200-meters and the long jump at the Pan-American Junior Championships and she finished 4th in the 200-meters and 7th in the long jump at the World Junior Championships.

Attending college at the University of Texas where she earned a Bachelor's degree in Sociology in 1993, Carlette became a world-class sprinter. Competing indoors in the 55-meters, 200-meters, long jump and triple jump, she led the Lady Longhorns to the NCAA Indoor Championship in 1988 by winning the 55-meters and long jump, placing second in the 200-meters and running a leg on the winning 4x400-meter relay team. Improving each year, she began competing in world-class events as the Goodwill Games and the World Championships.

In 1990 she posted the best U.S. time of the year for the 100-meters (11.03 seconds) which earned her the No. 3 world ranking in that event. She continued to garner multiple NCAA and Southwest Conference titles each year in her trademark events - 55-meters, 100-meters, 200-meters and long jump.

Her world rankings continued to stay in the top ten: 1991 (5th in 100-meters), 1992 (8th in 100-meters, 6th in 200-meters), 1993 (10th in 200-meters), 1994 (5th in both 100-meters and 200-meters).

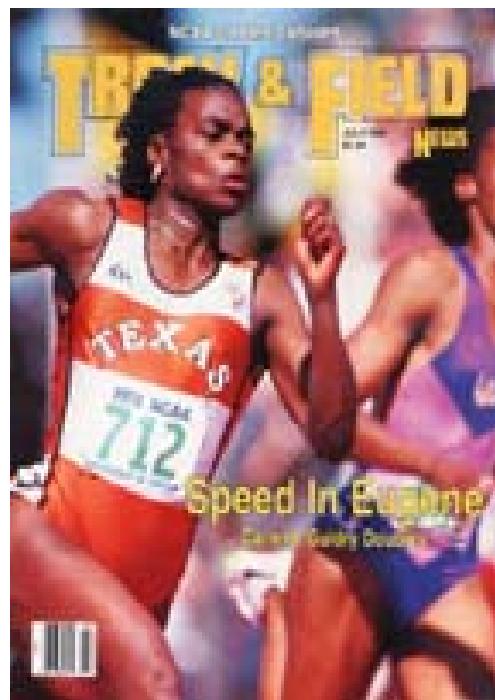

A highlight of her early career was an Olympic Gold Metal on the winning U.S. 4x100-meter relay team and a 5th place finish in the 200-meters at the Barcelona Olympic Games in 1992.

In 1994 she married Mon White, a former quarter-miler from the University of Southwestern Louisiana (Lafayette, LA), who works in law enforcement.

Annually she has competed strongly in the USA and World Championships in the 100-meter and 200-meter events - usually placing in the top 5 finishers and often winning the 200-meter USA Championship title.

In the 1996 Atlanta Olympics Carlette competed in the 200-meters and the USA 4x100-meter relay. Although she finished a disappointing 8th in the 200-meters, the USA 4x100-meter relay team blazed to a victory giving Carlette her second Olympic Gold Medal.

Currently Carlette Guidry holds the 4th best American time in the indoor 60-meter (7.04 seconds) and 200-meter (22.73 seconds) events and the 8th best American time in the outdoor 200-meter (22.14 seconds) event. Carlette certainly has earned her nickname among track athletes - Ms. Turbo!

PHYLLIS MARIE GUEDRY

Softball Coach

In August 2001 Phyllis Guedry returned to her alma mater Nicholls State University as head softball coach. From 1998 - 2001 Phyllis was head softball coach at Georgia State University in Atlanta, GA where she posted a winning record. In fact, Phyllis has never experienced a losing season during her eleven years as a player or coach.

A native of Terrebonne Parish in south Louisiana where she was born on 15 Dec 1971, Phyllis starred and later coached at Nicholls State University (Thibodaux, LA). While at Nicholls State, she was an All-Star Catcher in 1993 and graduated with a B.A. degree in General Studies.

Phyllis Guedry was a four-time letter winner in softball at Nicholls State and captured All-Louisiana Collegiate Softball Freshman-of-the-Year honors in 1990. She was also an all-conference catcher and in 1992 her Nicholls State University softball team won the Southland Conference championship.

After completing her B.A. degree, Phyllis continued at Nicholls State as an assistant coach for two years. Her 1994 and 1995 softball teams won back-to-back Southland Conference championships.

Then in 1995 she joined the Louisiana State University (Baton Rouge, LA) coaching staff where she helped start a women's softball program that captured the Southeastern Conference Western Division championship each of its first two years of existence and is today considered one of the best softball coaches in the nation.

Her teams went 44-14 and 58-14 while achieving a Top 25 national ranking both years. In 1997 the LSU women's softball team was ranked 10th nationally and advanced to the NCAA Regionals.

In addition to her coaching duties, Phyllis also coordinates recruiting for the team - a most important role as demonstrated by the continued success of her softball program.

In August 1998 Phyllis moved to Georgia State University - replacing longtime GSU head softball coach Bob Heck. During her three seasons in Atlanta GSU softball advanced to the Atlantic Sun Conference tournament all three years and ten of her players earned all-conference recognition. Between LSU and GSU Phyllis briefly served as an assistant coach with the Georgia Pride of the Women's Professional Softball League.

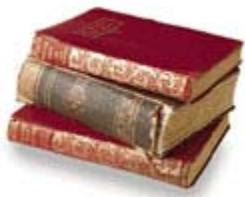

Her coaching experience is quite broad - spanning the field from pitching and catching instructor to outfield coach to hitting instructor, field maintenance and strength and conditioning coach.

She has worked in several national and international softball camps including the International Softball Camp in Heidelberg, Germany (1997) and the Tiger All-Star Clinic, Inc. (1996).

If you know of other athletes that you would like to see featured in GENERATIONS Newsletter, please let us know and we will gladly include them.
