GENERATIONS

Bonjour Cousins,

Comment ça va? It's a tad hot in South Louisiana at this time of year, but I know the weather is really nice for our northern cousins in Canada. We are publishing another issue of "Generations" which we hope y'all will find interesting. Be sure and read about our upcoming Breaux, Guédry, Hébert Reunion in Scott, Louisiana on 15 October 2025. Everyone is welcome even if you are not a Breaux, Guédry or Hébert, but just like one of the families. It is FREE to all. All the information is in the article. And, if you wish, bring your family genealogy to discuss and share with others. Our weather in October will be excellent with cool temperatures amid lots of Cajun music and food.

If you feel that you may come to the Reunion, please send a brief email to Martin Guidry at guidryMartin@gmail.com. This will help a lot in our planning for food, drinks, seating, etc. Of course, you always are welcome to attend even you do not let us know ahead of time. As my old Acadian grandmother said when unexpected company arrived, we can always set an extra plate.

Recently Judy Hoffman (a Pitts/Petitpas descendant) attended a Pitts Reunion and sent us a very nice article about her experience.

Our feature article in this edition is about a young Acadian boy (Pierre Guédry) who was deported when about 14 years of age. His was definitely a tale of rags to riches. We briefly discuss his life, but, more importantly, provide his quite interesting Public Auction Sale of his Succession. It gives an interesting look at a prosperous Acadian family in the 1820s. Having lost three wives to death over his life and having raised 18 of his 21 children (3 died as infants), Pierre still managed to accumulate significant wealth after he reached Louisiana in 1768 (age 27) with barely the shirt on his back.

IN THIS ISSUE

See the size of his estate when he died in 1825 and what it would be worth today - despite having to twice divide it with his children when his wives died.

Also, don't overlook our Book Nook, Bon Appetit and Historical Tidbits. They are always quite informative and interesting.

We will be changing the format of "Generations" in the future. After 23 years of publishing "Generations", we have grown older and grayer and have less time to put each issue together (which requires 4-6 weeks). Our current plans are to publish articles separately several times during the year and distribute them through our Family Website, email and Facebook. Then once a year we will gather all the articles of the year together along with our traditional features as the Book Nook and put out a single issue of "Generations". We are planning to publish a final issue of "Generations" in the current format in November 2025.

We are hoping to see lots of folks at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Scott, Louisiana on 15 October 2025 for our next Reunion.

BREAUX-GUIDRY-HÉBERT REUNION
15 OCTOBER 2025 (9:30 am – 5 pm)
KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HALL
123 LIONS CLUB ROAD; SCOTT, LA

Wednesday, 15 October 2025 we will again celebrate our Acadian heritage at our Breaux-Guidry-Hébert Reunion at the Knights of Columbus Hall (123 Lions Club Road) in Scott, LA. Scott, LA is about 5 miles west of Lafayette, LA just off I-10 and about 15 miles east of Rayne, LA where our 2022 Reunion was held. We are developing plans for the Reunion so more news is upcoming in the future. This Reunion will be similar to our October 2022 Reunion in Rayne, LA. We have invited the Breaux and Hébert families to be a part of the Reunion as all three families are closely connected along many family lines.

During the Reunion you can enjoy a Cajun band playing traditional music, hear a superb presentation on our Acadian history by Liz Martin, view a number of poster exhibits, purchase books and other mementos, recognize several outstanding members of our families, win one of the door prizes and spend a lot of time visiting with your Acadian cousins and friends. For dinner (lunch) Barry Guidry and his chefs will prepare a tasty Cajun meal. Folks are welcome to venture outside to watch and discuss with them how they cook the meal. Feel free to bring a dish that serves 8-12 people to share with everyone. It can be a dessert, bread, vegetable, salad or “finger” meat as chicken, sausage, boudin, cracklins, etc. Water and soft drinks will be provided.

Our Guidry family also will be at Families Day at Vermilionville in Lafayette, LA on Tuesday, 14 October 2025 from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm. Our table will be on the porch of the “La Maison des Cultures” House – the first house after the Performance Center as you enter the village. Come join us and enjoy a relaxing day with your Guidry cousins. Vermilionville is at 300 Fisher Road directly across from the Lafayette Airport and near the Jean Lafitte Acadian Cultural Center. Many Acadian families will have displays and information on their family and they will be located on porches and inside the old homes of Vermilionville. You’ll be able to tour the old homes, see crafts and meet all the families during the day.

Our 2025 Reunion will be part of the 4th Grand Réveil Acadien, which will occur throughout South Louisiana during 11-18 October 2025. The Grand Réveil Acadien is similar to the Congrès Mondial Acadien with a variety of activities occurring throughout the 9-day period in Acadian towns of South Louisiana. You can click on this link often to get the latest information on the Grand Réveil Acadien. <https://www.louisianeacadie.com>

And, as lagniappe, the world renown Festivals Acadiens et Créoles will be held at Girard Park in Lafayette, LA on 10-12 October 2025 – overlapping with the Grand Réveil Acadien. The Festivals Acadiens et Créoles is a fabulous festival highlighting Cajun, Creole, Zydeco, Swamp Pop and other music of South Louisiana as well as Cajun cooking, local artisans and a wonderful time with the local Cajuns of Louisiana. And it is FREE!!! There will be five music venues, about 25 cooking booths, over 50 local artisans and lots more. More information is available at: <https://festivalsacadiens.com>

Now is the time! Begin making your plans to head south to Louisiana in October 2025 and envelope yourself in Cajun culture. Lafayette, LA is a moderate size city with lots of motels and B&B's, fabulous restaurants, music halls, two historic Acadian villages (Vermilionville and Acadian Village), several Acadian museums, art galleries and many historic houses & buildings. And nearby towns of Breaux Bridge, St. Martinville, Opelousas, Eunice, Church Point, Rayne, Crowley, New Iberia and Abbeville to name a few offer many opportunities to delve into Cajun culture and history.

Additionally, Jean Lafitte National Historical Park and Acadian Cultural Center is next to Vermilionville at 501 Fisher Road and is free. Other Jean Lafitte National Historical Parks and Acadian Cultural Centers within the area of the Grand Réveil Acadien are at Eunice, LA (focusing on the Prairie Acadians) and Thibodaux, LA (focusing on the Marshland Acadians). <https://www.nps.gov/jela/planyourvisit/new-acadian-cultural-center.htm>

Airports are at New Orleans, LA (135 miles from Lafayette), Baton Rouge (60 miles from Lafayette), Lafayette and Lake Charles (75 miles from Lafayette). All the airports have rental vehicles. Two major highways go through Lafayette (I-10 east/west) and I-49 (north/south) as well as I-20 in north Louisiana and I-55 and I-59 in east Louisiana.

PUBLIC AUCTION OF THE SUCCESSION OF PIERRE GUÉDRY PÈRE OF ST. MARTIN PARISH, LOUISIANA, 17-20 JANUARY 1826

In the last edition of "Generations" (Spring 2025, Vol. 23 No. 1, p.33) we discussed the Last Will and Testament of Pierre Guidry of St. Martin Parish, Louisiana.<sup>1</sup> Pierre Guidry, born at Merliguèche, Acadie (near today's Lunenburg, Nova Scotia) about 1741 suffered through a tragic deportation and resettlement in Louisiana after being exiled to North Carolina and later residing in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland. His is a story of rags to riches for he was one of the Acadians that through hard work accumulated wealth before he died on 14 November 1825 near present-day Cecilia in St. Martin Parish, LA.

His life in Acadie, during the deportation years and in Louisiana are outlined in the previous edition of "Generations". During his stay in Louisiana, he accumulated a significant estate despite having 21 children and three wives - each of whom left him widowed.

About 1764 Pierre married Marguerite Dupuis by whom he had two children. Marguerite and both young children died in the summer of 1768 at San Luis de Natchez, LA (near present-day Vidalia, Concordia Parish, LA).

On 23 January 1769 Pierre married Claire Babin at Pointe Coupée, Pointe Coupée Parish, LA although they were living at San Luis de Natchez. The nearest Catholic Church was Saint Francis de Pointe Coupée Catholic Church about 80 river miles south of San Luis de Natchez. Pierre and Claire left San Luis de Natchez in December 1769 and resettled in Ascension Parish, LA before moving to St. Landry Parish, LA about 1773. They had six sons together before Claire died shortly after the birth of their sixth child in 1780.

With responsibility of caring for six young boys, Pierre married a third time in late 1780 or early 1781 to Marguerite Miller in St. Landry Parish, LA. About 1792 Pierre purchased property in St. Martin Parish, LA and moved his growing family to La Grande Pointe (near today's Cecilia). In 1822 Marguerite Miller died after having 13 children with Pierre.

Over time Pierre acquired vacheries (cattle ranches) and farms that provided him with significant wealth. At approximately 83 years of age, Pierre died at his home at La Grande Pointe on 14 November 1825.

Pierre Guidry's succession provides an interesting peak into the life of a successful Acadian in south Louisiana. The succession is quite detailed and includes small items as a hoe to his home, livestock and enslaved people.

This was the third distribution of Pierre's "estate" as he had divided his estate with his six sons after Claire Babin's death and then again after Marguerite Miller's death with their 11 living children and the descendants of their deceased son Victorin. Three of Pierre's children died in infancy and thus had no descendants.

In the 1800s Louisiana law recognized community property and usufruct. Under community property any assets acquired by the married couple during a marriage were community property and owned jointly. Any assets brought into the marriage by one partner or acquired solely by one partner through inheritance remained that partner's separate property. At the intestate death of a spouse in which the couple had children the community property was equally divided between the surviving spouse and the children of the marriage. The surviving spouse received half of the estate and the children received the other half. Furthermore, the surviving spouse received usufruct over the half of the estate given to the children. Usufruct granted the surviving spouse control of the children's half of the community assets as long as that spouse was living and to use those assets as the surviving spouse wished. For example, the surviving spouse could continue to live in the family house the rest of his life. The children were the "naked owners" of the assets and received these assets fully when the surviving spouse eventually died. Intestate was when a person died without a will.

Marguerite Dupuis died in the summer of 1768; however, she and Pierre Guedry had no estate. They had arrived in Louisiana in February 1768 almost destitute and had not acquired any real assets by the summer of 1768. There also were no children which whom to divide any assets.

Claire Babin died intestate in mid-June 1780. An inventory of the community property of Pierre Guedry and Claire Babin was conducted on 7 January 1781.<sup>2</sup> Their estate was estimated at $2547 piastres and consisted of the family's cypress home (20 feet x 16 feet) with 10 arpents frontage on Bayou Carencro by 12 arpents deep, another piece of land with no structures or fences with 10 arpents frontage, a 17-year-old Mulatress and various household and farm items. No division of the estate was noted as Pierre Guedry had usufruct of it. On 14 December 1825 David Guedry, acting for himself and his five brothers, stated that they had peremptorily settled their share of their mother's estate with their father Pierre Guedry and that he had made them whole.<sup>3</sup> Claire Babin and Pierre Guedry had been married 11 years at the time of Claire's death and the young couple had just begun acquiring significant assets.

Marguerite Miller died intestate on 22 October 1822 in St. Martin Parish, LA. She and Pierre Guedry had acquired significant assets during their 41-year marriage. They had assets in both St. Martin Parish, St. Landry Parish and Lafayette Parish. The succession of Marguerite Miller is quite complex with an inventory in three parishes, six separate auction sales, many notes owed to the estate and a distribution of assets to her surviving husband and 12 children.<sup>4</sup> Their St. Martin Parish and St. Landry Parish community property was inventoried 24 February 1823 and had an estimated value of $87,557. The inventory included 23 separate pieces of land totaling 4400 arpents, 78 enslaved men, women and children, various farm equipment, household goods, cattle and horses and 43 obligations (loans) owed to the community property totaling $18,713. Between 26 February 1823 and 20 August 1823 six public auctions occurred to dispose of the community property in St. Martin and Lafayette Parishes. The total value of the community property between Marguerite Miller and Pierre Guedry was $112,026.21. After subtracting the court costs and claims against the estate of $10,225.61, the amount of estate funds available for distribution was $101,800.60 of which half went to Pierre Guedry ($50,900.30) and the other half went to the 12 children of the marriage of Marguerite Miller and Pierre Guedry ($4241.69 each for the 12 children).

After subtracting the amount Pierre Guédry gave to his children with Claire Babin ($5200), his cash on hand at the time of Marguerite's death ($2000), his purchases at the auction sales ($27000.05) and notes he owed ($5,183.03), Pierre received $11,517.22. Pierre's purchases at the auction included his house, two pieces of land, 23 enslaved people and various farming and household items. Pierre's total estate was now $40,517.27 (auction purchases, cash on hand and cash received from distribution of estate). Although still a substantial amount of money for that time period, Pierre's estate had decreased by more than 63%. The average inflation rate from 1823 to 2025 has been 1.71%, thus the inflation multiplier is 30.62 for this time period. The $112,026.21 estate in 1823 would be valued at $3,430,243 today. Pierre Guedry's residual estate after the distribution and subtractions ($40,517.27) would be valued at $1,240,639 today.

When Pierre Guedry died on 14 November 1825 at La Grand Pointe (near present-day Cecilia) in St. Martin Parish, LA, he left an estate valued at $18,571.86 based on the sale of his assets at public auction.<sup>5</sup> It had been only two years since his spouse Marguerite Miller had died and he had lost over 63% of his assets in her succession settlement. He was an older man in 1825 - being over 80 years of age. Most of his 1825 estate included farming implements, household goods, 17 enslaved men, women and children, some livestock, some corn, potatoes, cotton and hay and the furniture of one daughter Felonise, who was in the convent. Likely much of the assets that he had after the 1823 succession settlement had been given to his children during the ensuing two years. Still $18,571.86 in 1825 was a considerable sum worth $603,028 in 2025. In his Last Will and Testament dictated on 7 November 1825 he set free at his death one enslaved woman Lalie (age of about 31) and her two daughters Louise, (age of about 8) and Adelle (age of about 5) because of kind and loyal services for over twenty-five years.<sup>1</sup>

Some brief definitions of unfamiliar terms

- Piastre – major unit of currency used in colonial Louisiana during French, Spanish and early American governments. The symbol $ was usually used to refer to piastres in colonial Louisiana. Often called a dollar.
- Escalin – One-fourth or quarter of piastre or commonly two bits
- Picaillon – One eighth of a piastre or commonly a bit

[Interesting facts – The piastre could be cut into eight pieces or picaillons. Two picaillons equaled one escalin. The picaillon was called a bit. Thus, you may recall the football cheer: 2 bits, four bits, 6 bits, a dollar (one piastre or 8 bits). Also, the New Orleans Times Picayune newspaper got its name because it cost a picaillon to purchase a copy of the newspaper.]

- Ells – an old measure of length primarily for textiles equal to six hand breadths (about 45 inches)
- Boffart (Beaufort) – a type of cloth
- Demijohn – a large glass or earthenware bottle used to transport liquids. May have a wicker cover
- Flagstone – sedimentary rock used as a paving material or in construction. Often brought to Louisiana as ballast in ships
- Carding Brush - A wooden handled brush used in preparing cotton and wool for spinning and weaving. They removed debris, untangled fibers and aligned the fibers
- Harrow – a farm implement used after initial plowing to break up clods and do the initial smoothing of soil
- Necessary – an outhouse (or, in today's parlance, toilet) situated away from main house with no utilities
- Bureau – a flat-topped writing desk that was unique to Acadian Louisiana
- Sceptre – perhaps a walking stick
- Spanish horse – a horsebreed descended from Iberian horse stock from Spain. They are generally small horses with specific characteristics.
- Pirogue – somewhat similar to today's canoes except the bottom is flat with no keel. Usually made of cypress using a "dug out" technique. Can traverse narrow, very shallow areas as marshland.

The paragraph at the very end of the succession sale mentions that all items were sold except the land mentioned in the 1st article of the Inventory. The 1st article of the Inventory states "A residence located in the Parish of St. Martin having nine arpents of land facing the left bank of bayou Teche with a depth of forty arpents bounded above by the land belonging to        and below by the that of Mr. Cyrille Thibodeaux all together the Buildings and other dependences of the said residence worth the sum of three thousand eight hundred piastres. That is to say two thousand piastres the land and eighteen hundred piastres the establishment."

Judy Hoffman of Huntington, NY, a Petitpas descendant, attended a recent reunion of Petitpas (Pitts) descendants and presented an interesting discussion on their Pitts ancestors. Below is a short article she wrote about her experience.

A PITTS REUNION

*I met Petitpas cousins (now called "Pitts") during the pandemic, when I reached out to one of them. Initially, we emailed pictures and family stories. The following year, in 2021, they were having a reunion in Old Saybrook, Connecticut for their branch of the family, and invited me to come and speak about our Petitpas ancestors. I've continued to stay in touch with them. I'm not sure that this would make a good newsletter article because it's old news now. But I'll share the story with you, anyway, just because it's about our Acadian family.
Best regards, Judy Hoffman*

During the pandemic, I decided to look up and introduce myself to Petitpas cousins living in Connecticut. I'd known of them, and been meaning to reach out since I'd begun researching my Petitpas ancestors in 2014. The pandemic seemed like the ideal time.

During 2020, my cousin Rhonda, in Deep River, Connecticut, and I (living in Long Island, New York) shared many photographs and family stories through email. In 2021, her branch of the family invited me to join them at a Pitts reunion in Old Saybrook, Ct. for their branch of the family, and asked me to speak there about our Petitpas ancestors and some of the Acadian history.

We're descendants of Stephen Petitpas b. 1867 in D'Escousse, Isle Madame, Nova Scotia. In the 1880's, Stephen and his extended family moved to Boston, changing their name from Petitpas to Pitts. The men were fishermen. When Stephen met my great grandmother, Elizabeth Callender, who was also descended from Nova Scotia, they married and had four children who survived to adulthood, two of whom have living descendants. The oldest child of Stephen and Elizabeth was Charles, b. 1893; the Pitts who were having a reunion in Connecticut are all descended from him. I'm descended from Charles' sister, Edith Elizabeth Pitts, b. 1895, who was my grandmother.

In July 2021, I attended the reunion and spoke about our ancestry while the other attendees had their dessert and coffee. When I began to discuss our Petitpas ancestors, a few attendees asked, "What's a Petitpas? Our name is Pitts". And they were correct; our family had been "Pitts" since they moved from Canada to the northeast U. S. in the later part of the nineteenth century. The name Petitpas and our Acadian history was information that some of them weren't aware of. It was a great experience, to be able to share some of our rich family history.

Below is a photograph from that day. I'm on the right side in the rear in the blue dress; the only descendant of Edith Pitts among the many descendants of Charlie Pitts. I recently visited some of these cousins in Connecticut again, and this time I remembered to get a copy of this picture.

The Red Helmet United States Air Force Thunderbirds Flight Helmets By Jeffrey D. Guidry

This first-ever book explores the history, development and evolution of the United States Air Force Thunderbirds flight helmets, from the team's inception in 1953 to present-day. Learn the origin and meaning of the Native American Thunderbird emblem and how this came to be the iconic image we associate with America's "Ambassadors in Blue." Follow the detailed progress of handcrafting a modern flight helmet and witness the meticulous designing, painting and stunning graphics that set these helmets apart. Meet several Thunderbird pilots through in-depth human-interest interviews and go behind the scenes at Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada, Home of the Thunderbirds. The book includes hundreds of black & white and color photos of Thunderbirds flight helmets from Thunderbird pilots, museums and private collections spanning 66 years.

Treasures in My Heart A true WWII love story By Paula F. Guidry

Paula Freeman was the sweetheart and eventually the wife of Sgt. John Ray, who was a paratrooper with the 82nd Airborne Division. He participated in the invasions of Africa and Italy and then was sent into France on D-Day. The inspiration for this story comes from 333 love letters written to Paula by John from January 1941 through June 6, 1944, when he made his fatal jump into Ste. Mere Eglise, France. Using these letters, along with her thoughts, memories, and a diary, Paula has reconstructed a beautiful love story that stirs up memories of World War II and what it was like to send a loved one off to war. Paula was never told how John died. It wasn't until she read Stephen Ambrose's book, D-Day June 6, 1944: The Climactic Battle of World War II that she discovered that her husband was a hero. She learned that John was associated with some of the best trained, most capable, and intelligent men in the world and was defending our country. Paula's goal in writing this book is to tell the world about this brave young man and to give him the honor, respect, and gratitude that is due him.

CRAWFISH ETOUFFEE-CREOLE STYLE - from Jack Guidry-Lafayette, LA

1-1/2 to 2 lbs. crawfish tails with fat
(from a crawfish boil)
2 tbs. bacon grease
2 tbs. flour
2 sticks butter or margarine
2 large onions, chopped
1/2 bell pepper, chopped
3 stalks celery, chopped
1 small (8 oz.) can tomato sauce
2 tbs. minced garlic
3 bay leaves
3/4 cup green onions, chopped
1/2 cup fresh parsley, chopped
1 tsp. creole seasoning
1 tsp. sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Cooked rice

I noted that the crawfish tails were from a crawfish boil because they will already have seasoning in them, so be careful with what you add. If you have store bought crawfish you can season them with a tsp. of liquid seafood boil and a little cayenne pepper and let them sit in the icebox a few hours.

On the side, in a non-stick pan, scorch the tomato sauce using a few teaspoons of oil by cooking on a medium fire until most of the water is cooked out and it appears to be frying.

Add garlic and bay leaves to roux mix and continue to cook another ten minutes or so. Add crawfish and scorched tomato sauce. Let it come back up to heat. Add green onions, parsley, creole seasoning and sugar. Cook another ten minutes and taste to see what seasoning you need to add. Add water to desired thickness (thick stew-like) and continue to simmer for about 30 minutes. Remove bay leaves before serving.

Serve over cooked rice.

Leave the tomato sauce out to make it a "Cajun" style.

Make a blond roux (very light brown) using bacon grease and flour. Add the butter, let it melt, then add the onions, bell pepper and celery. Cook on the medium heat for about 30 minutes stirring every few minutes (don't let it burn).

EARL GUIDRY
Comedy by Night

CHRONICLE STEREOTYPER

It's Metal by Day, But Comedy at Night

BY JOE GIBSON

Chronicle Staff

Earl Guidry, 30, makes lead plates for The Houston Chronicle by day and comedy on the Theatre Suburbia by night.

For The Chronicle, Guidry works in the stereotype room where the heavy metal circular jackets for the giant presses are cast.

For the little theater troupe at 1410 W. 43rd St. he directed the fourth show, "Suds in Your Eye."

"I thought the four-night run of 'Suds' went well. The last night we had to turn 25 people away.

Little Difficulty

"We had surprisingly little difficulty in getting the 23-man cast together for the six weeks of rehearsal and in adapting the play written for the proscenium stage to an arena stage," Guidry said.

"Suds in Your Eye" was adapted for stage by Jack Kirkland from the best-selling novel by Mary Lasswell of Austin, whose columns appear in The Chronicle.

Residing at 1417 Stonecrest

St., the father of two, has worked for The Chronicle for eight years. He had participated in high school and little theater productions when his wife Pat urged him to take a part in a church benefit play.

"An old troupier in the show wanted to form a company, and as I had considered it myself, I was excited," Guidry said.

Pushes Deadline

"We worked until 11 the night before the first show renovating an old toy shop on 43d St. into an arena stage, and then the cast began final rehearsals," Guidry recalled about the opening of Theatre Suburbia last October.

Guidry directed publicity for the first three shows and served on the board of directors.

The 70-member company, which presents only comedies, would like to produce an additional show this summer—"if someone will lend us a 10-ton air conditioner," Guidry said.

Marry Early to Be Happy, Says Father of Ten

ORANGE, Texas, March 7.—(Sp)—“Get married early, stay married, and don't ask Dorothy Dix about anything,” is the admonition of Villery Guidry of this city, who is the husband of one wife and the father of 10 living children, whose ages range from 5 months to 23 years.

Guidry admits that there is no time to be thrown away on the part of a man who is the father of 10 healthy children, but declares that it is possible to support and educate that number when ordinary economy is practiced. All of his children were born in Orange during the past 23 years and since that time he has been continuously employed at wages ranging from $1.50 a day up to $4.50 a day.

Owens His Own Home.

Guidry owns his own home and has educated his children in the public schools and at the same time has given them advantages of both instrumental and vocal music training.

“The doctor don't know the way to my house,” declared Guidry in making reference to the health of his family, which he admitted was a real factor in the success that he and his wife had enjoyed in rearing a large family.

The Guidry family is able to furnish both orchestra or band music, solos, duets, trios, quartets, etc., from its own ranks whenever it is desired. Included in the list of instruments provided for the children are a piano, two violins, a flute, piccolo.

Boys Are Musical.

Some of his children are members of the Lutch Stark boys' band and have distinguished themselves as first-class musicians. The Guidry children also have made excellent records in the city schools, it is said.

Those composing the Guidry family are: J. Villery and Mrs. Rosa Guidry, parents; Maud (now Mrs. Maud Williams), Vaughn, Letha, Irma, Bert, Verle, Bonnie Linn, Maxine and Shirline.

The father of the family of 10 was the first born of a large family. His mother is just 15 years older than he.

For the past six years Guidry has been employed by the Atlantic Oil Producing company of Orange-field, where he has worked in all departments.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — After nearly a month of intensive investigation, during which four U. S. Senators were under suspicion, the masked dance thief who stole the Mardi Gras dance with Mrs. Richard M. Nixon has finally been unmasked.

The miscreant is almost the last one to be suspected. He stands revealed as Joseph E. Guidry, formerly of New Orleans, but now a civil engineer with the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation. Here at last is the solution to Washington's most intriguing mystery:

The 47-year-old Guidry, a graduate of Tulane, tried to get a dance with Pat Nixon at the Louisiana State Society ball four years ago. He maneuvered through the cordon of secret service agents and said to the second lady:

“Would you care to dance?”

“She would not!” snapped an S.S. man—and that ended that.

But the ambition remained with Guidry. On successive years he tried again, but could not get past the bodyguards.
